

prison

"You're going to prison kid. There's no way around that. Take a good look and learn your betters. Your life will depend on them now. This ain't no Scandinavian heaven where you're handed everything on a silver platter.

Flag format: either CTF{server_host(ChunkX,ChunkY,ChunkZ)} or CTF{server_host:owner_username}"

The Minecraft screenshot and the mentioning of the prison took me in the direction of the Minecraft gamemode Prison. The description also states "This ain't no Scandinavian heaven where you're handed everything on a silver platter." so I knew that this was not a modern OP Prison server where everything is made to be easier but likely a classic Prison server. In the screenshots I saw the usernames of staff members from the server along with half the name of the owner. My first thought was to search more info on each user. The three safeguards had quite generic names: "ButterINC", "Cheese" and "Dragon" so I didn't find anything interesting about them. However the warden had a more unusual name "PsyChNOdelic" so I searched for the username and found a Discord profile with this username that had the tag of a classic Prison server. I thought surely this must be it and I searched for the server on Google and joined the Discord, but to my disappointment the owner's name did not start with Leaky. After that I searched on Google something along the lines of "Leaky" "minecraft" "classic" "prison" and the first link was a Reddit post advertising a classic Prison server and it also had a link to the Discord server. I joined the Discord and BINGO the owner's name was Leaky_Tandos.

flag: CTF{Leaky_Tandos}